Does the ACCME require a post test for an enduring material?

Last Revised: November 11, 2011

No. The ACCME does not require post-tests for any type of CME activity. In journal CME, some sort of challenge must be presented to the learner that is based on the content of the educational activity but we do not call it a post test.

Related Topics:
Criterion 11
Journal CME: Definition and Requirements

Source URL: http://www.accme.org/ask-accme/does-accme-require-post-test-enduring-material